SPANISH MUNICIPAL AGROECOLOGICAL NETWORK

Red Terrae is committed with: promotion and development of rural landscape recovery;
conservation of agricultural biodiversity; improvement of the quality of food and food sovereignty; favouring employment opportunities and local development in the territories.

All of these come under the umbrella of agroecology, a tool of good natural, environmental and territorial custody practices.

We are a network of projects developed in more than 30 municipalities in 8 regions.

The municipalities members of TERRAE, understand that the agroecological Dynamization is the path to follow to achieve innovation and to experiment alternatives for the territories, and so:

- We count on our local population for the design and proposal of agroecological plans.
- We respect and make the most of the agricultural memory of our elders.
- We facilitate the access to unoccupied or abandoned land through the agroecological land bank.
- We promote agroecological municipal projects that support entrepreneurship.
- We encourage and support short marketing circuits, with our trust on the ecokm0 TERRAE brand.
- We promote the management of bio-waste and circular economy.
- We encourage changes in eating habits towards healthier food choices with agroecological menus and edible gardens.
- We look for committed and responsible tourists and clients that want to live agroecological touristic experiences, enjoying our healthy, fair and environmentally friendly products.
